This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1901 edition. Excerpt: ... sent another messenger to the Nan-yang Chen-t'ai asking for definite orders, and promised to protect us five days longer. This man brought back a proclamation, a despatch, and a letter. The proclamation licensed riot The despatch forbade protection, and added that Ho-nan does not recognise the Yang-tsi agreement The letter ordered utter extermination. He permitted our escape next day and promised that all the property, about 200 cases for Kan-su and Shen-si stations, as well as our own things, should be preserved, unless he were superseded or a band were sent purposely to work destruction, such as the governor had threatened against the Italian missionaries at Kien-yang, a fortified village near Nan-yang. We purposed to escape during the five days' grace along with the Duncan Shorrocks party, but the assurances of the Hsie-t'ai both to them and to us caused us to delay to help the parties that were following them a day or two behind each other. The third party, Mr. Folkes (the Swedish Mission) from Shan-si, arrived an hour later than the returned messenger, and we left next morning with them. After our boats had started, the Hsie-t'ai gave the Chen-t'ai's letter to his subordinate, the Tien-tsong (lieutenant). He immediately ordered twelve militia to mount horses and fetch us back. Before dark the Hu-peh gunboat from Chang-chih-tong met the party, so that when the twelve horsemen found that our protectors were more numerous and better armed than themselves, they returned and reported that they did not dare to attempt the arrest Thus we are able thankfully to record that all the members of the Swedish Mission, together with all Shen-si workers, were safely escorted to Han-kow. This, under God, is entirely due to the firm attitude of the...
