"Hilarious and inspiring... Bill Bryson meets Jeremy Clarkson"

Dingo Smart is stuck in a dead-end desk job when the sudden demise of his newspaper's Olympic correspondent presents the chance of a lifetime. A stranger to foreign travel, he is soon winging his way to Atlanta where he stumbles into the chaos of possibly the worst Games ever staged and the Centennial Park bombing.

Having survived the Deep South, Dingo embarks on his own globetrotting Olympiad as he sets out across America. Along the way he confronts OJ Simpson over a garden wall at midnight, has a close shave with the Testicle Festival in Montana, and is forced to haggle with a Californian car dealer whose chief bargaining tool is an artificial voice box.

Forced to flee Fiji at the height of a military coup en route to covering the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Dingo sets about discovering Australia as well as, among other things, the divorce rate for penguins and the threat to koalas from VD before he begins the tortuous trek home across south-east Asia and India.

A travel book like no other, Chasing The Flame is the hilarious true story of one man's journey of self-discovery spanning four years, three continents and two very different Olympic Games.
