The series of volumes bearing the title Contemporary Halakhic Problems presents an authoritative analysis of the application of Jewish law to the current social, political, technological and religious problems. The author is a foremost Talmudic scholar, halakhist and bioethicist of international renown.

In Volume VI, Rabbi Bleich discusses societal and communal issues including use of torture as a weapon against terrorism, sacrificing human lives for the protection of society, enforcement of heter iska agreements in American courts, malpractice liability, contemporary medical questions, miniscule crustaceans in New York water, parasite infested fish, issues concerning kohanim, commercial exploitation of human remains and much, much more.
