It is nice when we are all in agreement. But what do we do when we do not agree? Malachi is only four chapters long, so we have no reason to believe we cannot get to the bottom of it. Not many times are we told everyone has it wrong. This time we get told in no uncertain terms. We need to wait for the argument to see the issue. We need to listen to the argument, for it affects everything we do.

This book will reveal more about us than we want to know. But what we want and what we need are two different things. What we need is to be true. It would be good if what we need and what we want are the same. We would be getting somewhere then.

The cover photos show a man in a rage. All he wants is for you to back down and admit he is right. This unpleasant incident can be over if only you will admit to being wrong. The sooner you bow to his wishes the sooner he will get out of your face. Delay and he will explode.

What is he so angry about? Is there a problem here? Are you talking to me? We need to get to the bottom of this because it goes to who we are.
